PREFACE.

The Charter of WESTERN RESERVE COLLEGE bears the date of February 7, 1826. Instruction began in September, 1827. The first Catalogue was published in 1827, and was a single leaf about the size of one of these pages, printed on one side and containing the names of the students only. The names of the Trustees and instructors are not given, nor even the residences of the students. There are three Sophomores, two Freshmen, eight Preparatory, and nine in the partial course. It is probable that a Catalogue has been published each year since, except in the years 1852 and 1853 ; but the College does not possess a complete collection, as it ought. The Catalogues which are missing are those for 1828-29, for 1829-30, for 1831-32, for 1832-33, for 1833-34, and for 1834-35. If any one will send to the Library a copy of any of these the College will regard it as a special favor. The first Triennial was published in 1839. Triennials were also published in 1842 and 1845. In each of the years 1846, 1847 and 1848 a complete Catalogue of the graduates was published in the annual Catalogue. All these "Triennials" were in Latin. In 1850 a Triennial of all departments was published in English in connection with the Annual. In 1855 a Triennial of the Academic department was published in English with the Annual. In 1859 and in 1865 Triennials were published in Latin.

The present Catalogue has arisen from a desire on the part of some of the Alumni who usually attend the Commencements, for information concerning their brethren who are widely scattered and who have not for a long time visited their Alma Mater. The College also desires to gather up and preserve some record of its children, whose lives and characters must always constitute its chief claim to respect. We wish also to take some account of what has been accomplished here in the cause of education and to strengthen ourselves for the future by the knowledge of the good and learned men who have taught and studied here and of the good work they have done in the world.

Like almost all other Colleges, Western Reserve College was founded chiefly "for the purpose of raising up a learned and godly ministry" for the church, and President Storrs came here in 1828 as "Professor of Theology." Mr. Beriah Green came in 1830 as "Professor of Biblical Literature." The Theological Department was regularly organized in 1830, and continued as a distinct department until 1854. Since that time, though the College has been and is always open to Theological students, Theology has been taught here, as in other Colleges, only so far as it is a part of a liberal education. There have been one hundred and one Theological students who pursued their professional studies here one year or more.

The Medical Department was established in Cleveland in 1844, under the instruction of such eminent men as Drs. Delamater, Kirtland, Ackley and Cassells. In the twenty-nine years of its existence THE CLEVELAND MEDICAL COLLEGE has given degrees to eleven hundred and seventy-four medical students. A considerably larger number have attended for one or more sessions though, receiving their degrees elsewhere, if at all. It is believed that these will number about twenty-two hundred.

As in all other Western Colleges, a Preparatory School was found to be necessary here from the very outset. The necessity is perhaps greater now than ever before. The names of the teachers and pupils of the school are placed in our Annual Catalogue. It is under the control of the Trustees and Faculty of the College and receives assistance from them ; and, while it is never spoken or thought of here as a part of College, and its pupils are not members of College, its work is an important part of our educational work. In some periods of its history it has been a general Academy for English and classical studies, and at other periods it has been strictly a Preparatory school. The number of different students who have pursued their studies in this school is not known exactly, but making a reasonable estimate for those years of which we have no Catalogues, it must be at least twelve hundred and seventy-five. It is not our intention to publish any list of them.

There have been, at various times, a few students here pursuing what is usually called a Scientific Course, or a Partial Course. Of these we find about sixty.

The graduates of the College proper number three hundred and eighty-three. We find in our Catalogues more than as many more,—three hundred and ninety-six,—who have been members of College for a longer or shorter time. If we suppose that on the eight Catalogues which are missing the number of those who did not graduate is equal to the average on the Catalogues which we have, the whole number of members of College who have not graduated will be four hundred and seventy-six. Thus it appears that less than half of those who have entered here have graduated. There have been, therefore, eight hundred and fifty-nine young men who have received more or less of their College education here.

Summing up the results, in the College proper, the Theological Seminary, the Cleveland Medical College and the Preparatory School, we find the number of members of the several schools to be about forty-four hundred. Many of these, of course, passed through more than one of the Departments and in this statement are counted twice, and doubtless some three times. It is even possible that two or three names may be found in the Preparatory School and in each of the Departments of the College. Probably about one hundred and forty names occur twice, and thirty-five three times.

The original purpose of the founders has been so far accomplished that about one-third of the graduates of the College proper have entered the Christian ministry—one hundred and twenty-seven out of three hundred and eighty-three. Nineteen of the recent graduates are now pursuing their professional studies in Theological Seminaries. Fourteen have become foreign missionaries. One who had consecrated himself to this work died at Richmond, Va., while on his way to his foreign field. One other graduate of the Theological Seminary became a foreign missionary without completing his College course.

Somewhat more than a hundred of the College graduates served in the army during the war of the rebellion. They were in all ranks, from hospital steward up to Major General. Many left the College classes and Preparatory School during the war to enter the army, where they laid down their lives for their country; and others, who came safely through the war, did not return to their studies. In May, 1862, the students formed a company of Infantry and entered the service for four months, the work of the College being suspended meantime. The Catalogue of 1862-3, at the end of the summary, adds the remark, "In addition to those named and enumerated above, there are in the army, members of College classes, 16; members of Preparatory School, 27."

So far as now known seventy-two have died. Perhaps some of those about whom we have gained no information are dead also. If any one who sees this catalogue can give any information about the dead, or about any of those graduates whose history we have not given here, they will confer a great favor by communicating it to the President of the College. This Register is very imperfect, and doubtless contains many inaccuracies. It is very much desired to make future editions more complete and correct, and we shall be thankful to any one who will correct or enlarge our record of his own life or that of any other alumnus. Interleaved copies will be kept constantly at hand in which all such information will be immediately entered.

It will interest the graduates to know that the College, though small in numbers, is in a healthy condition, with increasing endowments and means of instruction, and that it remains true to the standard and traditions of the past. We desire to see the graduates here, and to feel the stimulus which their visits would give. If "the glory of children is their fathers," the glory of mothers is certainly their children, and the College rejoices and is encouraged in all the usefulness and the honor of its graduates.

The following letter was addressed to the Alumni:

WESTERN RESERVE COLLEGE,

HUDSON, O., June 20, 1872.

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Alumni of the W. R. C., held at the last Commencement, a Committee was appointed to prepare a Register of the Alumni. It seems best that that Committee should act in connection with the officers of the College to secure a Triennial Catalogue, containing all desired information with regard to the Brethren. For that purpose, we request you to inform us, as soon as possible, on the following items:

1. Date and place of your birth.
2. Where prepared for College.
3. What year did you graduate?
4. In what professional school (if any) subsequent studies were pursued.
5. Professions or occupations, when and where pursued.
6. Army service—when and in what rank you entered service.
“ “ “ “ ended service; wounds received, etc.
7. National, State, County or Corporation offices held, with dates.
8. Honorary Degrees received.
9. Present profession.
10. When married, and how many children.
11. Post-Office address.
12. Any information in your possession with regard to your own or early classes—especially Post-Office address of any Alumni who graduated before 1842.
13. Information with regard to those deceased.

Have the goodness to be full and precise in the above. Address, as soon as possible, C. CUTLER, Hudson, O.

Yours respectfully,

C. CUTLER.
